

Finding Your LIFE PURPOSE

A Workshop with Drew Lawrence

Internationally acclaimed speaker, facilitator and healer

Sunday, January 17, 2010

10 am - 4 pm

Cost: €100

Place: Enniskerry, Ireland (Whitefield, Deakins Lane, Bahana)

Until you know what you've come here for and actually begin to do it, it is difficult to find fulfillment. This one-day workshop will help you discover your purpose and assist you in removing the obstacles which stand in your way.

You will examine your life in terms of your true vocation through in-depth questions and thought-provoking dialogue and discover what that purpose may be.

Purpose is that which you are here to give to the world. Desire is that which you are here to receive from the world. It effectively demonstrates how to bring these two opposites into harmony.

It points out the pitfalls many of us often slip into when choosing a life path and offers a practical means of evaluating every action and its meaning for you in your life.

While looking at your past and future decisions in terms of "action and reaction," it will help you determine whether you are actually leading your life through your own decision-making process or are living your life in response to the demands and expectations of others.

- Lively group interaction.
- A great opportunity for change and transformation.
- You won't look at your life in the same way by the time the day is through.

Spaces are Limited! Book Your Place Today!

Call +353 1 274.0206 or Email drewjlawrence@gmail.com

"You gave me a larger context in which to imagine my life's vision and purpose."

"Entertaining, inspiring and informative. I realize now that my life purpose is within reach."

"I enjoyed the presentation and the humor. I appreciated all the material including the very thought-provoking questions."

"It was informative and enjoyable. There is just nothing to compare it to. I now realize that I must make my passion my vocation."

"I found your workshop very effective. It was well thought out and prepared, and the applications approach worked very well for me. I loved the four natural divisions of work and the pyramid to success."

"The best idea I gained was that intuition should always be the focus. I have always felt that I have great intuition but have only started to listen to it recently."

"My goal for your workshop was fulfilled. You have a wonderful teaching style that is truly a reflection of your purpose."